Message from the Chairman

Chairman ZHANG Hong

Historic reform in China's insurance market sums up the year 2014. With the issuance of the "Ten New Insurance Regulations", the market is well positioned to integrate itself into a broader national, social, and economic development plan that ensures the well-being of the Chinese people. Under these favorable conditions, China Property and Casualty Reinsurance Company (China Re P&C), a national reinsurer, is set to enjoy another banner year of growth.

Despite the challenges facing China's economy and insurance industry, China Re P&C reaped RMB 29.30 billion in premium income and RMB 1.43 billion in after-tax profit through a strengthening of its core business structure, management model, and innovative solutions practice. China Re P&C's other breakthroughs include significant improvements to its quantitative processes and customer service.

Under the "new normal" of China's moderating economy and the "Ten New Insurance Regulations", China Re P&C will actively adapt to market changes and the competitive insurance environment by transforming the way it does business. Moreover, China Re P&C will continue its key role within the industry through its leadership in developing a national Catastrophe Prevention System, a Multilevel Catastrophe Risk-Diversification Mechanism, as well as in its support of domestic agricultural insurance and the overseas operations of Chinese companies.

China Re P&C maintained 11 years of solid growth since its foundation and became a leading force in China's reinsurance market. But we also understand that despite the rapid changes reshaping China and its insurance markets, we must never stop to ensure the company's continued development into the future. We therefore take this opportunity to express our genuine gratitude to the regulatory authorities for their continuous guidance and assistance.

And we sincerely hope to earn your support, as always, for our future development.

Message from General Manager

General Manager LI Yuanyuan

Reform, innovation, support for China's economy and insurance industry are the highlights of 2014 for China Re P&C. On the one hand, we stood up against the headwinds of a difficult economic environment and soft market to offer our clients solid reinsurance capacity and risk management solutions. On the other hand, as the only national reinsurer, we actively adapted to market changes and advocated reform where it was necessary. We accomplished all the business goals that we set for ourselves at the beginning of 2014, and finished the year with a reinsurance premium income of RMB 29.30 billion, an after-tax profit of RMB 1.43 billion, and total assets worth RMB 45.58 billion.

We reinforced our dominant position on all fronts. Thanks to our strong partnership with more than 60 domestic P&C insurance companies, as well as our market share and business volume, we remain a lead reinsurer of choice on domestic treaty business. We continue to meet the unique needs of our clients and help grow their business value.

To support the country and the local insurance industry, we coordinated with regulatory authorities in establishing the China Agricultural Reinsurance Pool (CARP), of which we are pleased to be entrusted as managers. In addition, we actively participated in launching domestic catastrophe insurance pilot programs, along with major projects such as the China Risk-Oriented Solvency System (C-ROSS) and the deregulation of motor insurance tariffs.

We continue to improve our internal management processes. We foster an environment that accelerates synergies in strategic thinking and goal execution across China Re P&C's business teams. We launched the Reinsurance Enterprise Analysis & Pricing System (REAPS), a proprietary analytical tool that significantly enhances our ability to analyze and price our risk portfolios. In collaboration with RMS, an internationally recognized authority on catastrophe modeling, we successfully updated our China Typhoon model. We improved the application of our economic capital model and redesigned our technical accounting team's processes to provide better support of our business development goals.

We seek to fortify our role in the insurance industry as innovators of thought and leadership. We offered 234 customized solutions for our clients in 2014, ranging from data and pricing analysis to economic capital model applications. We organized the fourth China P&C Reinsurance Market Forum and the second China P&C Insurance CEO Roundtable Meeting, both of which provide platforms for high-level professional communication in China's P&C insurance industry.

2015 is the last year of China Re P&C's "Five-Year Strategic Plan," and marks a crucial moment as we journey into the future. As we look back at our accomplishments and look forward to the challenges of our next five-year cycle, our focus remains on the long-term sustainability of the China Re P&C brand. We will seize opportunities for strategic growth under the "Ten New Insurance Regulations." We will continue to adapt to regulatory and market changes, improve our overall competitive strength through innovative thinking, and strive for a brighter future with determination and hard work.
